Marketing × Web Development final pitch

Gym Neutron

Select your element. Build your strength.

Launching the Confidence Catalyst: a free 30-day challenge for gym beginners, November 1 to 30, 2026.

Raiven Contreras | Jefferson Haresco | Dale Ysmael Landoy

Target segment

Beginners don't fear the price. They fear the floor.

The nervous first-timer

18 to 30, student or young professional, lives within 8 km of the gym in Calamba, Laguna. Has watched workout videos, maybe paid once and quit.

“I don't know how to use the machines.”

“Everyone there will judge me.”

“I'll pay and quit again.”

So we sell certainty and safety, not gym access.

The offer

Every bonus is another plate on the bar.

| 240 | 144 | 101 | 100 | 25 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| leads | booked (60%) | show up (70%) | slots filled | coaching packs ≈ ₱64,000 |

Live demo

The website does the selling.

1. Form validation
   Name, email, mobile, off-peak time and consent, with clear messages. Simulated success; nothing stored or sent.

2. Countdown + expired state
   Counts to Nov 30, 2026, 11:59 PM. After that, the offer closes and the form locks.

3. "Select your element" quiz
   Four questions match you to Iron, Oxygen, Calcium or Neutron.

Testing and contingency

High traffic, low leads? The page is the problem.

1. Does the headline repeat the ad's hook word for word?
2. Does it load fast on a phone over mobile data?
3. Is the form short, with clear error messages?
4. Are the offer and deadline visible without scrolling?

16 of 16 test cases passed, including the expired-offer test, on six screen sizes.

Weekly KPIs: page conversion ≥ 4% · first contact < 5 min · booking ≥ 60% · show rate ≥ 70% · cost per show-up ≤ ₱350

How we built it

Built together, from idea to website.
